“The e-survey results helped us quantify customer satisfaction rankings and market share data and allowed us to target areas for improvement. We knew MDR had the most comprehensive education database available, so it made sense to work with them to reach our target audience. MDR's sales rep understood the marketplace and helped us launch the survey to achieve the best response rate. We also worked with MDR's internal research consultant, and she ensured that the e-survey design gave us the information we needed. MDR helped guide us through every step: from execution to survey design and methodology to list selection, recommended deployment times, and statistical analysis. Our marketing strategies now align with the needs of the marketplace.”
